

Michelle Walker, PhD Trainer, Speaker, and Author

Dr. Michelle Walker is a creative professional with 30+ years of education and professional learning experiences in multiple occupational areas. She is proficient in designing and facilitating training to diverse learners and has a passion for helping others become their best.

As a consultant, Michelle works with managers to determine their organizations' primary learning objective(s) for adult learners; then design, develop, and facilitate instructional content to meet the predetermined objectives. Clients have been pleased with the engaging presentations and training resources that impacted their customers and employees. Walker is known for demonstrating excellent communication and interpersonal skills, being open to new ideas, collaborating with others, implementing best practices, paying attention to details and enhancing the performance of learners.

Before founding Trebla Consulting, Dr. Walker served as Director of Education at DECA Inc., using diverse professional development engagement strategies to expand and strengthen the performance of nearly 6,000 teachers and managers in the nonprofit organization's high school and collegiate divisions. She also led the organization's Global Entrepreneurship Week (GEW) initiative which engaged students worldwide in the entrepreneurship process. The initiative grew to 8,500 global participants annually in four years.

Additional work experience includes university professor where she facilitated graduate and undergraduate instruction, mentored graduate and undergraduate learners, developed distance education courses, contributed to the development of national and state curriculum and learning resources, published numerous articles in leading academic journals. Walker has presented and spoken at national and international conferences in the United States, Brazil, Colombia, Greece, Italy, North Africa, and South Africa. She is co-author of Marketing Dynamics, a textbook for high school students.

Michelle holds a Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of North Texas, where she studied training and development and management of career and technical education programs. She is a graduate of Leadership Texas and Leadership America programs.

